

ALL ENTITLED TO VOTE

Upon the Selection of a Floral Emblem for Montana.

POLLS OPENED YESTERDAY

Mrs. L. A. King, Coworker for Deer Lodge County, Has a Supply of Ballots on Hand—Universal Suffrage the Rule.

Mrs. L. A. King, coworker for Deer Lodge county of the Montana Floral Emblem society, is now prepared to receive votes for the state flower. Mrs. King has a supply of ballots on hand that can be filled out by all those who wish to vote upon the selection. The polls will close all over the state on Sept. 2, when all the ballots will be forwarded to Mrs. Mary L. Alderson of Bozeman, chairman of the society, who will count them and as soon thereafter as possible will announce the result.

Mrs. King is in receipt of the following interesting communication from Mrs. Alderson:

Arouse interest in our wild flowers and in the state floral emblem in any way it seems best to you. Open, as soon as you wish, registration books in as many parts of your county as you can secure representatives of the Floral Emblem society. Allow all men or women, young or old, intelligently interested in what the state floral emblem shall be, to record their names and choice for state floral emblem, any time before Sept. 1st or on that day. Have all votes from different parts of your county sent you on Sept. 2nd and forward them at once to the state chairman. Inform people in your county, through newspapers and in any other way you can, that any who wish may send votes direct to you or to any of your helpers. Secure as many votes as possible on the floral emblem.

Secure the aid of the newspapers of your county in acquainting people with the object of the Floral Emblem society, the progress of the work, etc. Place pressed and fresh specimens of floral candidates on exhibition, with names attached, when you can do so, in order to acquaint people with the correct names of the flowers.

To stimulate an interest in wild flowers, offer prizes of intrinsic or sentimental value for exhibits of wild flowers on July 4. Some county coworkers are going to have some floral exercises on July 4, and will then take votes on the state floral emblem candidates.

Obtain votes of members of W. C. T. U., organizations, all clubs and societies, schools, etc. On Memorial day, Fourth of July, or any other day when people have assembled, inform them where those who wish may record their choice. The votes, of course, may be received any time before Sept. 2. Considerably over 100 were recorded in Missoula county several weeks ago. It is to be hoped several thousands votes will be received from each county, as it is desired to have the vote representative and complete. The above are simply suggestions to coworkers. They may adopt only as many as they can or think best to. Nothing is obligatory except to obtain as many votes as they can. Please send monthly report of work in your county to state chairman.

IN BEHALF OF THE ARMY.

General Jeffries Returns Thanks for Assistance Given the Industrialists.

To the Editor of the Standard:

I desire, through the columns of your paper on behalf of the Northwest industrial army, to acknowledge the kindness received from the workingmen of Anaconda, a committee, including myself, composed of William Edwards, Jerry Connelly and D. C. Jones, made a canvass of the Anaconda reduction works, and received, if no error appears, with the list, the sum of $449. This is the most substantial aid the army has received from any city since its march. And one reason why the handsome item is appreciated is because it comes from the legitimate laboring classes of the city and will serve as an encouragement to the army on its tedious march to Washington. There is no buncombe or bombast in such assistance, and it will thrust the idle down the throats of the idlers who say that this movement is not the endorsement of the actual laboring classes of the nation. Some men who were approached felt bad that they could not afford to give anything, and others that they could not give more. The industrial army of the Northwest will ever remember the kindness of the Anaconda workingmen.

I also desire to acknowledge and return thanks for donations received from the business men of this city. Copper City Commercial company, 200 pounds of flour; Union market, 25 pounds of salt meat; Macmillan & Co., 25 pounds of coffee; Walker & Gibbs, 25 pounds of bacon; J. D. Rom, one dozen cans fruit; A. Roebelen & Co., 25 pounds of lard; Vienna bakery, 25 pounds of sugar; Ed Devine, 100 pounds of flour; S. J. Baker & Co., beans $6; Katzstein & Cohen, socks $2.50; Anaconda meat company, salt pork 25 pounds; McKinnon & McKay, $5 beans; J. W. Bru, $2 under clothes; J. Copius, $2.50 shirts; Sam Frankenko, $5 beans; J. T. Carroll & Co., 100 pounds flour. Through the kindness of the management of the Anaconda Reduction works, a check for $250 was advanced to General Jeffries on the subscription list. The balance of the list, about $200, when checked up and definitely ascertained will be paid to William Edwards, who will forward it, together with any other donations that may be made to him within the next week, to the industrial army at Minneapolis.

I wish to assure the workingmen and business men of Anaconda that I will not forget to tell the people on our line of march how liberal and kind-hearted you have been on behalf of humanity in assisting the industrial army on its march to Washington.

ANACONDA, June 1, 1894.

"DORIS" AND "HAZEL KIRK."

Edna Ellsler Will Produce These Two Plays Next Monday and Tuesday.

"Doris," with Edna Ellsler in the title role, will receive its first presentation in this city at the opera house on Monday evening, June 4, and promises to be one of the most finished and artistic productions of the season. Robert Drouet, the author of "Doris," has been singularly fortunate, inasmuch that this, his first important work, should have achieved such immediate success. Doubtless much is due to Miss Ellsler's interpretation of the heroine, for, as a well known critic observes: "Too much cannot be said of Edna Ellsler's acting in the role." The great dramatic opportunities in the play have been improved by the management. The cast is a strong one, including such sterling actors as Frank Weston, Robert Drouet, C. W. Coudock, George F. Farnen, Charles F. Bates, James Castle, John Hall, the Misses Fanny L. Burt, Annie Atty, Isabel Burnham, Kate Fielding and others. Tuesday evening, that beautiful domestic comedy, "Hazel Kirk," will be given with Miss Ellsler and C. W. Coudock in their original roles of Hazel and Dunstan Kirk.

PLAINTIFF FAILED TO APPEAR

The Branch of Promise Case Against Joseph Long Was Dismissed.

The case of Miss Suska Gurasko against Joseph Long was to have been tried in Judge Rockwell's court yesterday morning, but owing to the absence of the plaintiff and her attorney the action was dismissed, much to the disappointment of the spectators. The case gave every promise of being an interesting one. The plaintiff and defendant's hearts had been beaten as one for over a year, and they were about to be joined at the altar when the defendant backed out, at least so the complaint alleged, to the damage of Miss Gurasko's heart in the sum of $300, which amount she sought to recover in Judge Rockwell's court from Mr. Long. The defendant and his attorney, Col. T. O'Leary, were on hand yesterday to answer to the wear and tear of the plaintiff's affections, but the other side failed to put in an appearance so, after waiting the statutory hour, the judge dismissed the action. From present appearances Miss Gurasko is out a husband, also that being's equivalent, the sum of $300.

Civilizing the Dark Continent.

From the Bechuanaland News. Bulawayo has been on the spree for weeks and weeks, and the state of drunkenness and gambling which exists there is shocking. Farm rights change hands daily, the company's volunteers disposing of their for various sums down to $50, and whether the amount they receive is high or low, they drink it out forthwith. Bulawayo is at present, in fact, a town of affairs which has prevailed there (among the whites) since it was made a settlement, it is impossible to say that the rule of Lo Bengula has been succeeded by anything better. One cannot help wishing, if not that the imperial government had never allowed the company to assume the government of the country, at least that the company would copy the policy of the imperial government in Bechuanaland. In the whole of British Bechuanaland and the protectorate there is not a canteen, except one each at two principal camps of the B. B. P. Licenses are refused to all applicants who cannot show that they provide ample accommodation for man and beast; a place must be either a wayside inn or a hotel, and the town drinking shop is unknown throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Thackeray's Return.

Once the letters began to arrive from America we were all much happier, for we seemed in touch with him once more, and to know what was happening. He was fairly well and in good spirits, and making friends and making money. I remember his writing home on one occasion and asking us to send him out a couple of new stomachs, so hospitable were his friends over the water, so numerous the dinners and suppers to which he was invited. When the long summer and winter were over, and the still longer spring, suddenly one day we heard he was coming back much sooner than he expected. I believe he saw a steamer starting for home and could stand it no longer, and then and there came off.

I can still remember sitting with my grandparents, expecting his return. My sister and I sat on the sofa in the little study, and shortly before the time we had calculated that he might arrive came a little ring at the front door bell. My grandmother broke down; my sister and I rushed to the front door, only we were so afraid that it might not be there that we did not dare to open it, and there we stood until a second and much louder ringing brought us to our senses. "Why didn't you open the door?" said my father, stepping in, looking well, broad and upright, laughing. In a moment he had been away at all.—Anne Ritchie in Longman's Magazine.
